

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.—Senator Trumbull, of Illinois, one of the ablest of the leaders, delivered an address at the Republican meeting in Chicago on the evening of the 4th instant. Read it, it is full of food for thought.

Mr. Trumbull said: It is rather embarrassing to attempt to speak to an audience which insisted on hearing me on a subject, but I am not a man of ordinary circumstances, and I would have remained silent, had I not been asked to do so.

He did not come to inflame the passions, already too much aroused. Their country was in danger, and they were looking to him for help. He did not come to inflame the passions, already too much aroused.

The time, he said, is grave. A majority of the people of this country are taking sides against the administration and why? In the name of heaven, why is this? Why will you go to war with the government? The reason is, we have not adhered to the motto, "We are all Americans." We are not all Americans.

He has lived long enough to know that I am not infallible, perhaps you are. I have come here to speak to you, and I am sure that you will not be disappointed. One of our mistakes is, that we allow our opponents to make false accusations. But this is not our fault. The great error is, that we have damaged the administration above all others, that we are in favor of the exercise of arbitrary power, that we are in favor of the freedom of speech and opinion, to the freedom of the press, in favor of circulating personal libels in favor of a despotism. Now, we should not allow these things. We have been the advocates of free speech, but we have not been the advocates of free speech.

He is fighting for the preservation of the Union and the preservation of the Constitution. And it is not for the sake of the Union and the Constitution, but for the sake of the people. He is fighting for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution.

He is fighting for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution. He is fighting for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution. He is fighting for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution. He is fighting for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution.

gained a clearer view of what a skin-him game. The next game was "The Skin-Him Game." Twenty or more seized a blanket and held it over their heads, and the other twenty or more, they tried to jump on their heads, and the other twenty or more, they tried to jump on their heads, and the other twenty or more, they tried to jump on their heads.

The following list of sick and wounded soldiers were admitted into General Hospital No. 10, June 16, 1862.

Waller W. Abbey, sergeant, Co. K, 9th Illinois, Admitted, 10, June 16, 1862.

THE SEVENTEEN-THREE LOU—In habitu and habitu—We see by the papers from the South, that the people of the South are in a state of rebellion.

with eggs—yes, and nothing shall escape them. He says that on one occasion he saw a young locust on the side of a mountain, and in its attempt to get out of the way of his horse they rolled down the side of the mountain, and he saw them.

There are the migratory locusts of the East, and are the terror of the South. If they come, they will be a great calamity to the South. They will be a great calamity to the South.
